Your deposit is insured within the statutory deposit insurance scheme under Czech Act No. 21/1992 Coll. on Banks as amended (the "Act on Banks"). In the event of insolvency, the deposit insurance scheme shall pay you compensation for your deposit up to the equivalent of EUR 100,000.

The compensation shall be calculated in the currency of the country where the account is held; as for receivables from deposits held in a currency other than the currency of the country where the account is held, the compensation shall be calculated on the basis of the exchange rates published by the Czech National Bank on the day when the Czech National Bank issues a notification under which J&T BANKA, a.s. is unable to meet its liabilities towards eligible persons under statutory and contractual conditions or on the day when a domestic or foreign court delivers a ruling suspending the depositors' rights to dispose of their deposits in J&T BANKA, a.s., that are covered by the insurance (reference date). The compensation is paid in the currency of the country where the relevant account is located.

² Total Insurance Limit

Provided a deposit is not available because the credit institution is not able to meet its financial liabilities, Garanční systém finančního trhu (Fond pojištění vkladů)/Financial Market Guarantee System (Deposit Insurance Fund) shall pay clients a compensation for their deposits up to the limit determined. Compensations shall be paid up to the equivalent of EUR 100,000 and always calculated for the entire bank or savings cooperative. In order to determine the amount to be paid from the insurance, all deposits of a depositor held with a credit institution, including interest calculated as of the reference date, shall be summed up. For instance, if a client has EUR 90,000 on his savings account and EUR 20,000 on his current account, he shall be paid the equivalent of EUR 100,000. Such procedure shall be paid also if a credit institution operates under various business names or trademarks.

In some cases determined by the Act on Banks, protection is extended also to deposits exceeding the equivalent of EUR 100,000, however, up to no more than the equivalent of EUR 200,000. For instance, deposits from funds acquired from sale of real estate for housing, as long as the reference date occurs within 3 months from the date when the amount has been credited to the account, and other cases referred to in the Act on Banks.

³ Insurance Limit for Joint Accounts

As for joint accounts (i.e. accounts with several co-holders under Section 41e(1) of the Act on Banks), the share of each client shall be included in his limit of EUR 100,000 individually. Authorised account users shall not be considered account holders, with no insurance protection applying to such persons.
